Coloring Book

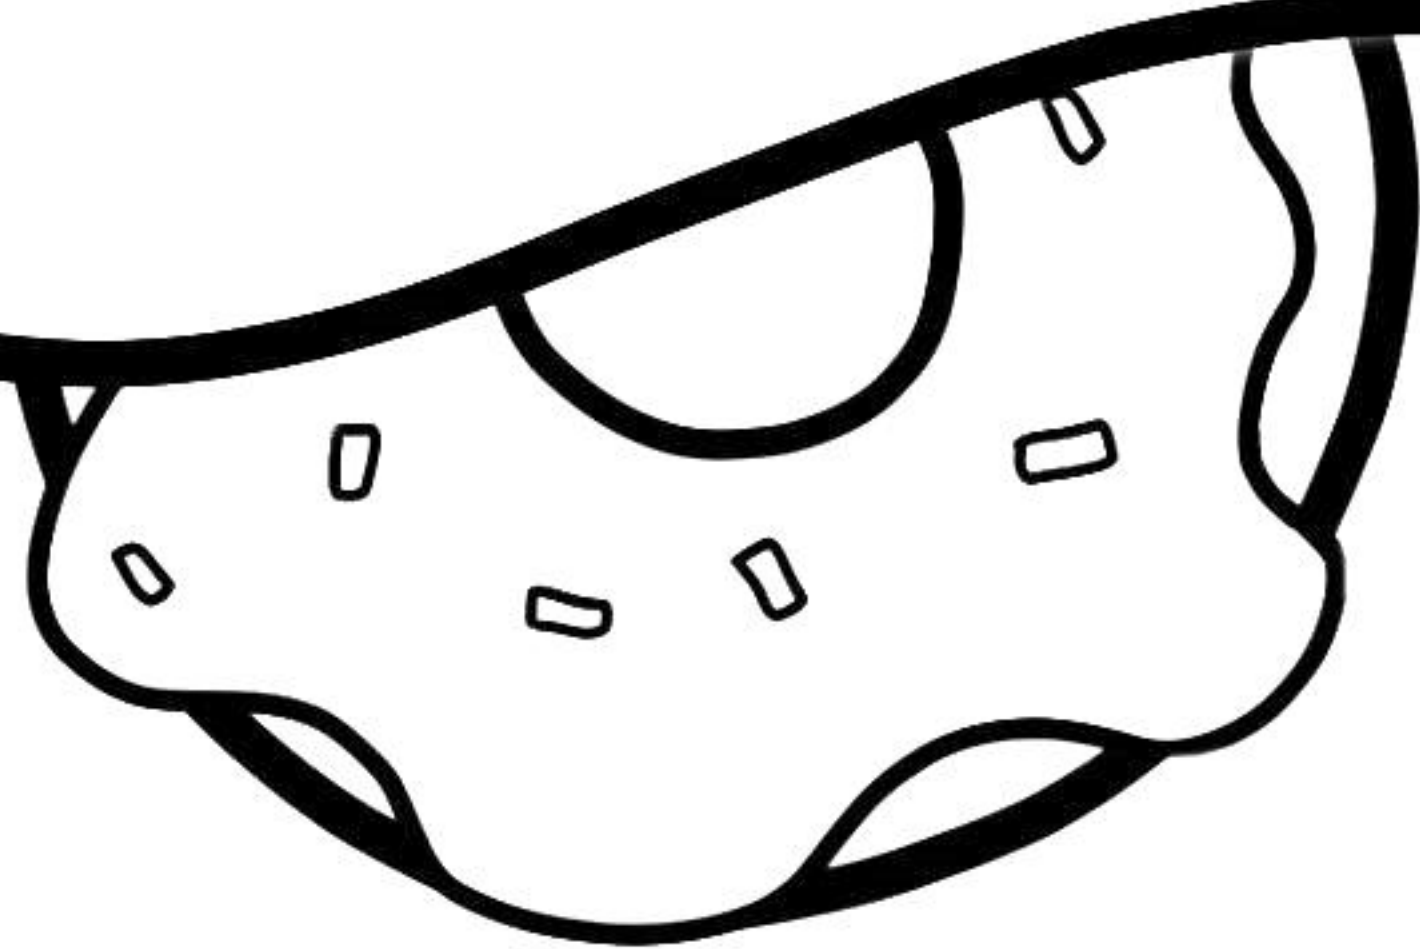

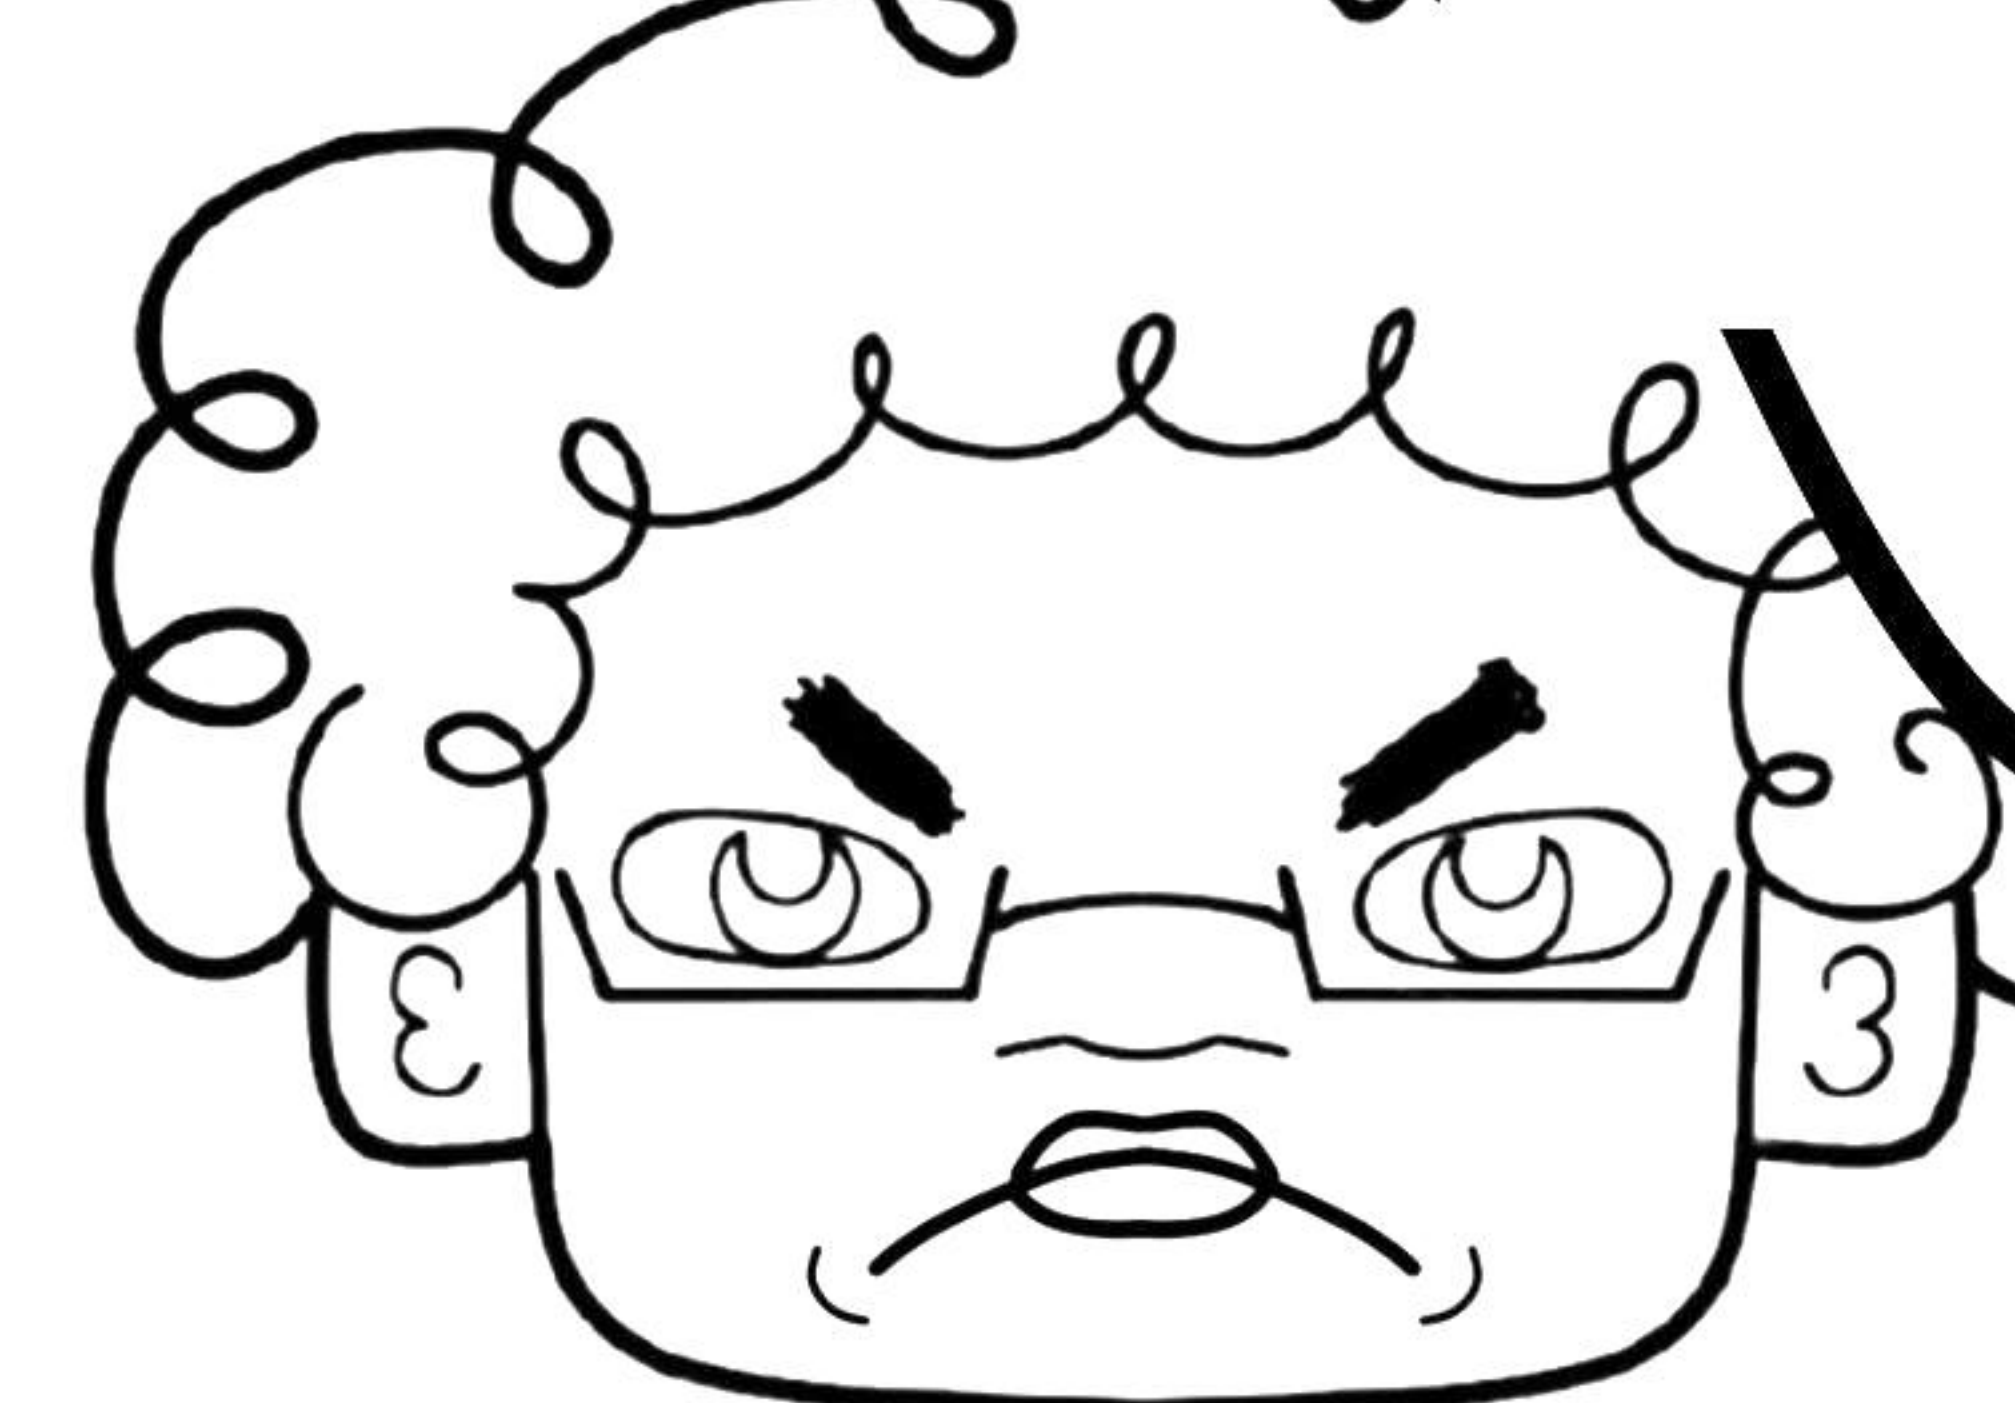

Doughnut's JAM

Doughnut Sinclair is a Jolly Jelly new hire, passionate about the fruity deliciousness of jelly. She is tasked with developing a new Jolly Jellicious recipe. Pressure from her supervisor makes her question how far her positivity and work ethic can take her in the jelly-making world.

I don't know why they hired you! Now I'm stuck with your stupid ideas.

Mr. Toast is fussing at me again!

Jolly Jelly
TONGLE

However...
My passion for jelly

washes away the bitter taste of inferiority.

With the overwhelming positivity from my jelly love

I CAN overcome anything!!!

Artist Note (Ayanna Reid)

On the importance of art in the healing process: "Within healing, art isn't only a tool for managing attention and regulating emotions. Art provides situational control where one can interact and engage with it for whatever desired purpose. The healing that occurs within art grows from the ability to fully represent yourself within your work. The workplace comes as a rigid, structured environment with strict expectations of our behaviors and responses. My goal for this coloring book was to offset the monotonous work environment with a silly, quirky story about a jelly-worker experiencing common problems that occur within the workplace."
